Dear Helper,
 I'm a girl of 14, and I'm unhappy. I'm good at schoolwork but not at sports. The other students in my class laugh at me. I wear glasses and am the smallest and heaviest girl in the class. I'm not popular with the boys, either. My mom says that I don't need to worry too much, but I am worried. What should I do?
 Linda

Dear Linda,
 Your mother is right. You don't need to be unhappy. When I was of your age, I was the tallest in my class and that made me unhappy. By the time I was 15, there were several boys taller than me. Maybe you can take regular exercise. How about jogging, doing aerobics, playing tennis, or going skating? If you exercise regularly, you will keep fit. Don't worry about boys. Not every boy likes slim girls.
 Helper

Boys & girls,

Don't throw your food at the animals. They need clean houses. When you watch them, don't tap the window or make noise. And turn off the flashlight before you take photos. They don't attack people. But when they are hungry and sleepless, they could get angry easily. Be quiet and follow your teacher in Fun World.

Have a nice day!
